

„Jute Disintegration“

Sunday 13. May 2012 Rehearsal for all participants

Sonntag 20. Mai 2012 Public Performance Installation for the audience

Hours: see below

Where: Uferhallen Kulturwerkstatt, Alte Kantine Wedding / TEATRIS, Uferstr. 8-11, 13357 Berlin, U8 Pankstr/U9 Osloerstr. Kosten: 20/15 Euro sunday may 13th — alte kantine wedding, 14-20h the day is for trying out ideas, putting things together, generally rehearsing. we don't need everyone to come to this, but ideally around 10 people to work with sunday may 20th — uferhallen 15-20h the installation itself will be 2-3 hours, frances will be photographing and filming. if you can't make it to the first sunday, it is ok to come just to this.

for some ideas of what we might do, you can look at the photos on dasniya's website, or some of the shibari posts on my blog.

if you have interest, or know of someone who also might be interested, let us know.

we hope to see all of you here, frances & dasniya

frances@francesdath.info

email@dasnyasommer.de

Short description:

There are many people and many ropes. Some are tied/tying themselves to/on/ around/above/below a long table; others are self-suspended/partially suspended/ mostly on the ground; others might just have one rope wrapped around them. Time passes, and this changes. Someone/people might move from one place to another, suspend themselves or come to the ground, join or leave, form or disband a group. It is an anarchy of shibari; repetition and difference. It is It is also somewhat baroque, or 'dressed up'; something of an installation, something of a performance.